Metropolitan Paper Fails

In a year when newspapers generally are prospering another metropolitan daily has quit, with disturbing abruptness.

The Washington (D.C.) Daily News, evening, suspended publication with the issue of Thursday, there being no warning before the announcement Thursday that its name, features, and circulation had been acquired by the evening and Sunday Washington Star. That the Daily News was a chain newspaper with strong central finance and management still failed to avert the shutdown.

The same chain, Scripps-Howard, bowed out of New York City a few years ago; it was not alone—when the proposed merger of the New York Herald-Tribune, Journal-American, and Evening Telegram, came apart at the seams, two of the largest chains lost their "flag" papers, Hearst's Journal-American and S-H's Telegram.

Metropolitans for years have been fighting rising costs and an impossible aggregation of unions which forced repeated mergers or suspensions.

While costs were rising, furthermore, the metropolitan centers were losing population, merchandising, and advertising, to prosperous suburbs. Foremost example is New York City, which in my school days at Columbia University, 1920-22, had 22 newspapers—now reduced to three publishing companies: The Times and Daily News, on the morning side, and the Post alone in the evening field, although all three have Sunday editions.

The details on the Washington failure are pretty grim. The surviving evening paper, the Star, has been in the red for two years—the late lamented Daily News, for five years.

Dominant in the Washington field is the morning Post, whose advance to No. 1 started 18 years ago when it bought its rival morning paper, Times-Herald, owned by the Chicago Tribune.

A Wall Street Journal dispatch carries this significant paragraph:

"The closing of the Daily News leaves New York as the only city with three independently owned newspapers. Chicago remains the only U.S. city with four major 'general newspapers'—but the dispatch adds that there are only two publishing companies, the Tribune Co. and Field Enterprises, Inc.

I can think of an even more extreme case: St. Louis. The Post-Dispatch is alone in the evening field, and the Newhouse chain paper, Globe-Democrat, in the morning—but the Post-Dispatch prints the Globe-Democrat under contract . . . actually but one newspaper plant in the entire city of St. Louis.

But like all the metropolitan centers St. Louis is ringed by suburban papers which have siphoned off advertising and circulation—so the industry as a whole remains strong and continues to grow.

Bids will be accepted at 10 a.m. July 26 at the state Highway Department office in Little Rock.

Thomas who?
gets nod for Democrat VP

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton apparently had his vice presidential nomination clinched early Thursday despite a day-long show of decision-making by the McGovern camp.

The Democratic National Convention's endorsement of Sen. George McGovern's choice early today followed a hectic day of telephone calls and conferences about the vice presidential spot.

Reports of lists of candidates with far-ranging membership floated out of the McGovern entourage. But whether there was a list on paper with two, four, seven or twenty-five names on it, Eagleton was the front-runner after Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's decision against running was accepted.

Others mentioned by McGovern's staff members and outside participants in the day-long meeting Thursday had either said they didn't want the job or had not been seriously considered by McGovern.

New Orleans Mayor Moon Landrieu, for example, was reported by Rep. William Clay of Missouri on Thursday to have been one of seven possibilities being considered by McGovern. But no one called Landrieu at any time prior to or during convention week to discuss the vice presidency, the mayor said.

Clay, a black, participated in discussions in McGovern's hotel Thursday about the vice presidency.

Florida Gov. Reubin Askew and Connecticut Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, both reportedly on a four-man list of McGovern favorites, were sounded out again Thursday. But both again refused to accept the vice presidential nomination, as had been widely predicted.

At 3:30 p.m. McGovern quietly told the 10 aides and his wife that Eagleton was it.

Meteoric rise for Missouri senator

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The selection of Thomas F. Eagleton as the Democratic vice presidential candidate climaxed a meteoric rise in politics for the 42-year-old junior senator from Missouri.

At 27, Eagleton was elected St. Louis County circuit attorney; at 31, Missouri's attorney general; at 35, lieutenant governor; and at 38, Missourians sent him to the U.S. Senate.

Youthful in appearance, Eagleton sometimes has been called a Kennedy-type Democrat, but he dislikes being labeled either a conservative or a liberal. He says his views depend on the issue involved. Associates regard him as liberal on most matters.

He called in 1968 for an immediate cease-fire in Vietnam, and was an early advocate of stopping the bombing there.

Eagleton also tried to whittle down military spending and succeeded in knocking out the MBT70 tank as a wasteful expense.

He advocated wage and price controls to slow inflation. When President Nixon announced

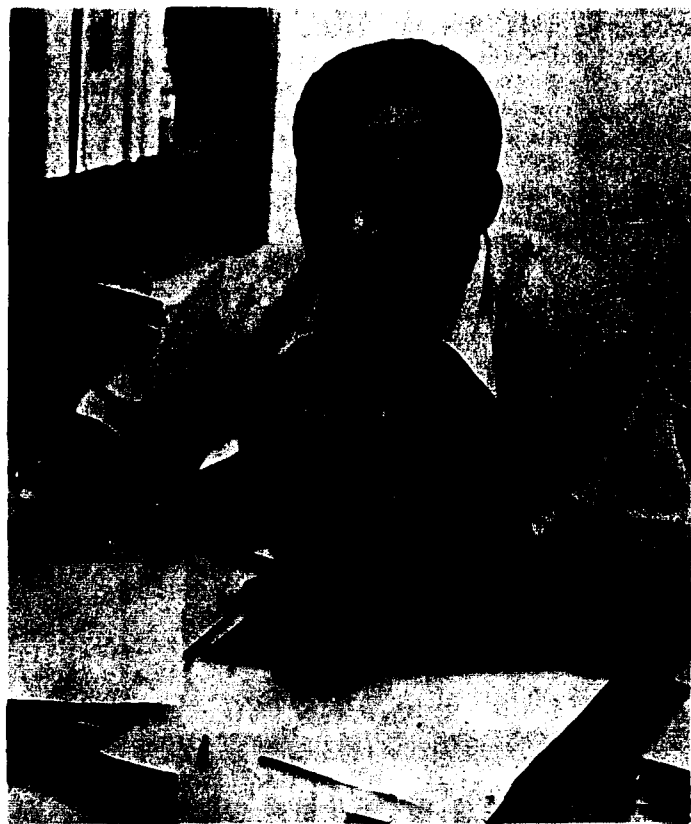

Phase I of his economic controls, Eagleton praised the action but told Missourians he hoped it wasn't "too little, too late."

Eagleton has worked on labor and consumer issues in the Senate. He got the Senate to adopt a clear labeling act. He sponsored an amendment, later adopted, that allowed use of federal funds to ease the financial strain on school districts caused by public housing projects.

As vice chairman of the Senate's air and water pollution subcommittee, he has counted environmental problems as one of his main concerns in recent months.

Eagleton was a principal sponsor of the Clean Air Act of 1970 and was an author of the Water Pollution Act of 1971, which is still pending in a conference committee.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine was Eagleton's first choice for the Democratic presidential nomination, but after Muskie withdrew, the Missourian joined the forces of Sen. George McGovern.

McGovern urges party unity

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern, vowing to lead a people's campaign, urged wildly cheering Democrats today to put behind "our fury and our frustrations" and unite to capture the White House from President Nixon.

And the South Dakota senator appealed for help "from every Democrat and every Republican and independent who wants America to be the great and good land it can be."

It was nearly 3 a.m. when the beaming McGovern, introduced by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and joined by vice presidential nominee Thomas F. Eagleton and defeated presidential rivals, stepped to the rostrum of a tumultuous, jammed Convention Hall to accept his party's nomination.

The victorious nominee had only a few hours to rest up after his triumph — appearances before a unity breakfast for the party's House and Senate Campaign committees and a Democratic fund-raising group were scheduled before he returned to Washington later today.

McGovern also had to decide on a new chairman for the Democratic National Committee, which holds a morning organizational meeting. While he has pressed Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien to stay on, informed sources said he would ask Jean Westwood, the Utah national committeewoman, to take the job if O'Brien declines.

In the final moments of the convention that his supporters dominated all week, the triumph belonged to the one-time college professor from South Dakota.

Waves of applause rocked the hall as Hubert H. Humphrey, Edmund S. Muskie, Henry M. Jackson, Shirley Chisholm and Terry Sanford lifted high the hands of the 49-year-old nominee and his 42-year-old running mate from Missouri.

Reviewing the way his campaign swept aside the established political leadership, McGovern said he would dedicate his White House campaign to the people, declared that next January he would restore government to their hands and added:

. . . of McGovern

"American politics will never be the same again."

With some labor leaders still determined to sit out the campaign and other delegates grumbling about the ways in which his operatives dominated the convention, McGovern forecast the battle against Richard Nixon would bring the party "together in common cause" this fall.

"He is the unwitting unifier and the fundamental issue of this national campaign," McGovern said, adding that "all of us together are going to help him redeem a pledge he made 10 years ago: that next year you won't have Richard Nixon to kick around any more."

Even delegates who supported the absent Gov. George C. Wallace joined the ovation when McGovern vowed to wage a national campaign and said, "We are not conceding a single state to Richard Nixon."

Child development is interest of Mrs. McGovern

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Eleanor McGovern said today she would "like to be the White House advocate" of the rights and well-being of children.

Joining Barbara Eagleton, wife of the Democratic vice presidential nominee, in a joint session on the morning after the Democratic National Convention ended, Mrs. McGovern said she was ready to go onto the campaign trail after a South Dakota vacation in the Black Hills.

Asked about how she viewed a possible role of First Lady, Mrs. McGovern said one way to make living in the White House "palatable is pursuing things that one is interested in." Her interest, she said, is child development.

Among questions raised by reporters with Mrs. McGovern was the abortion issue. She said there is so much pro and con on it that she thinks it should be settled on the local levels and not become part of the presidential campaign.

State's delegation favors rule change

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A searching discussion in caucus turned the Arkansas delegation to the Democratic National Convention around Thursday night in the vote on rules to restructure the Democratic National Committee.

The question was whether Arkansas would lose voting strength on the committee. At first it appeared that the state would lose. Then it was discovered that the loss, if any, would be small, and Arkansas voted 28-1 for the new rules.

Joe Purcell, the state party chairman, cast the dissenting vote. He said he felt the changes were being pushed through too quickly.

"I have not had a chance to study them adequately," said Purcell. "If I don't understand fully what I'm voting on, I vote no. Things are being given to us just before we vote on them, and I don't think that's the way to do things."

Gov. Dale Bumpers, the delegation chairman, arrived at the caucus opposed to the rules change. He opened the session by telling Herb Bingham of Little Rock, Arkansas, representative to the Rules Committee, "Herb, I'm really disturbed about these rules."

Bumpers had arranged for each delegate to have a copy of the proposed new rules. With Bingham explaining and Bumpers and other delegates helping him interpret the language, the rules became palatable.

Arkansas has two of 100 votes on the present National Committee. At first it appeared that Arkansas would have only two of 232 on the new committee. Actually, it developed that Arkansas would have three votes of 232 and, while Bingham serves a year as chairman of the Democratic Governors

Highway 29
work order
is issued

The Highway Department issued a full work order this week which authorizes the contractor to begin the major work to be done on the reconstruction and widening of Highway 29, the main north-south route in Hope. The project will extend from the south city limits to U.S. 67, the main east-west artery, a distance of 1.5 miles.

The street will be widened to 48 feet from curb to curb and new storm drains and other utility installations made to prevent street flooding and partially alleviate off-street flooding.

A partial work order was issued last October which allowed the contractor to remove trees, hedges, and retaining walls, and to move and reset fences. The contract was awarded to Arkansas Rock and Gravel Company of Murfreesboro in August, 1971. The job will cost approximately $508,000.

Caucus, he will be an ex officio member of the committee and Arkansas will have four of 232 votes.

Bingham said the thrust of the new rules was to bring more people into the party. The new committee will have more than 350 members, many of them with only one-half vote. Purcell, although he voted against the change, becomes a member under it, because state chairmen automatically are seated.

Two female delegates revealed at the caucus that they were supporting Rep. Frances Farenthold of Texas for the vice presidential nomination. She was the women's lib candidate.

Mrs. Brownie Ledbetter of Little Rock and Mrs. Diane Kincaid of Fayetteville brought Farenthold posters to the caucus, but they got little sympathy from Bumpers, who told them:

"Maybe the rules of future conventions ought to be changed to allow the convention to make the choice of a running mate. I can make an eloquent plea for either side. If I were the nominee, I would hate to be saddled with someone who was not compatible with me. But until the rules are changed or the tradition broken, I intend to support the idea that the candidate has a right to pick his running mate."

Mrs. Kincaid, who heads the Arkansas Commission on the Status of Women on appointment from Bumpers, told him that a check had been made with the convention's presidential nominee, George McGovern, and that he did not object to Mrs. Farenthold.

"I don't think McGovern would have picked Sen. Eagleton if he had wanted Mrs. Farenthold," Bumpers said. Then with tongue in cheek, he added,

"Of course, I'm sure you wouldn't support Mrs. Farenthold just because she is a woman. You're doing it because she is the best qualified candidate."

When word was passed Thursday afternoon that McGovern had picked Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri as his running mate, Bumpers recalled meeting the senator a year ago during a trip to Missouri to speak to a fund-raising dinner of Missouri Democrats in Jefferson City.

Bumpers said he understood that Eagleton was a Catholic and friendly with organized labor. "Those were two of the criteria they were looking for," he said.

Vandalism problem at Hope school

About 40 windows have been broken at the Yerger School here since the end of the school term, according to School superintendent Jimmy Jones, who has reminded that the destruction of school property by minors is a liability of parents.

Jones said damage to school property estimated at $200 has been done at the school, and said that the "school" can recover damages up to $300 from parents of any minor damaging property.

He said the breaking of windows on school property is a "serious problem."

Figures prove building boom

During the first six months of 1972, building permits in the City of Hope rose to an astounding $1,972,125, only $4,829 off the record total set in 1971 for an entire year.

Building permits in 1971 totaled $1,976,954, a significant increase over the 1970 total of $1,567,380.

Bill Wray, city building and plumbing inspector, said yesterday that permits for the construction of 66 single-family dwellings valued at $1,158,000 had been issued this year; one multi-family building permit ($33,000); 12 industrial and commercial ($752,100); and 10 additions and alterations ($29,025).

Gun battles rage in Belfast today

BEELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Gun battles raged in the Roman Catholic districts of Belfast early today as the British army abandoned its "low profile" and launched a major offensive against guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army.

Shooting erupted in all of Belfast's major Catholic strongholds after three battalions of troops invaded the IRA "no go" district of Andersonstown to quell gunmen who had poured intensive fire at an army command post for four days.

It was the first time the army had entered one of the districts taken over by the IRA. In the past such areas have been off limits to prevent a confrontation with the guerrillas holding sway there.

Protestant militants have been demanding for months that the army go into the no go areas and clean out the IRA.

The invasion of Andersonstown will probably intensify the Protestants' demands that the army now go into the barricaded areas of Londonderry that are the most famous symbols of Catholic defiance, the Bogside and Grogan districts, or "Free Derry," as the IRA calls them.

Army headquarters said about 700 men remained in control of Andersonstown early today but said it did not know how long they would stay there.

Two British troops and three civilians were known killed in the fighting during the night, raising the death toll to at least 15 since Wednesday and to at least 431 in the three years of communal violence in Northern Ireland.

The invasion of Andersonstown was ordered by Britain's administrator for Northern Ireland, William Whitelaw, Army headquarters said. It marked a reversal, at least temporarily, of Whitelaw's policy of reducing military activity in an effort to wean away the grassroots Catholic support of the IRA.

The retaliation began shortly before midnight.

A sandbagged Army fortification on Tenadon Avenue had been under heavy IRA attack with guns and bombs for five hours. At one stage a rocket was fired at the post but the missile missed and hit a neighboring house.

About 30 soldiers inside held out until some 1,800 men moved up in armored personnel carriers.

A soldier was killed and another wounded as the troops occupied the district, but otherwise the task force met little resistance. The army said the IRA was taken by surprise.

Andersonstown was quiet after the takeover, but violence immediately erupted in the Ardoyne, Falls Road, Ballymurphy, New Lodge and Divis precincts, and in the city center.

The army claimed to have hit 22 gunmen. Their condition was not known because the guerrillas carry away their casualties for burial or treatment.

Wallace to go home

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — His proposals rejected by the Democrats, Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has not closed the door completely on another third-party campaign.

"I don't have any plans now politically except to go back to Alabama," Wallace said Thursday.

Asked if that ruled out another American Independent Party effort, the crippled governor replied: "As I said, I don't have any political plans at this time. That would include that, of course."

But, he added: "I don't say I won't ever have any."

Wallace chatted for more than an hour in his hotel suite with Alabama newsmen covering the Democratic National Convention.

Six die in Hope district

The Police Services Division in its monthly statistical review reported today that 57 persons died in traffic fatalities during the month of June. According to State Police figures this is five (5) fewer deaths than recorded over the same period a year ago.

Captain Milton Mosier, district commander of the Hope District, for the Police Services Division, said that six persons died during the month of June on Arkansas Highways in the Hope district. Counties in the district recording deaths were Clark with three deaths, Little River, Miller, and Pike one each. Hempstead, Howard, Lafayette, Nevada and Sevier were free of traffic fatalities during the reporting period.

Mosier said troopers in the nine-county area investigated 90 accidents. Hempstead County experienced the highest accident rate during June recording 19 accidents, followed by Clark, Miller, and Nevada counties with 13 accidents each, Sevier nine, Pike eight, Howard and Little River six each, and Lafayette, three accidents.

The report indicated that excessive speed was the leading contributing cause in the accidents followed by failing to yield the right of way and driving while under the influence of alcohol. The 57 traffic deaths during June occurred in 51 fatal collisions. Statewide, Troopers investigated 1,159 accidents during the month of June.

Skyjackers baffle FAA, officials as solutions sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Finding a way to halt airline hijackings has baffled officials of the nation's airlines and the Federal Aviation Administration.

Airport security has tightened noticeably since the beginning of the year. Carry-on luggage frequently has been searched. Passengers have been screened for weapons by electronic metal detectors. Ticket agents have kept an eye peeled for suspicious persons who fit a secret hijacker profile.

But the hijackings continue. Six jetliners have been hijacked in the past six weeks alone, including two that were commandeered by gun-toting sky pirates Wednesday night.

"We don't know what the holes in our security are," said FAA spokesman Dennis Feldman.

"We have to take each instance on a case-by-case basis to determine whether there has been proper screening," he said.

FAA administrator John H. Shaffer has ordered an investigation of all hijackings to determine whether airlines are living up to security regulations put into effect in April.

Two airlines, United and Pacific Southwest, were fined $1,000 each after the FAA ruled that lax security contributed to the success of a pair of hijackings that occurred within days after the new regulations went into effect.

The regulations require airline personnel to observe all boarding passengers to see whether any of them match a behavioral profile of potential hijackers developed by the FAA.

The airlines also have the option of using metal-detecting devices or searching passengers or their hand luggage, but are not required to do so.

"There is no way to calculate what percentage of passengers pass through the magnetometers," said Air Transport Association spokesman James McCarthy. "At some boarding places all passengers go past the devices. At other times or places, only persons believed to match the profile are sent through the detectors."

According to government statistics, 205 persons have been arrested during the past 18 months for trying to board an airliner with a weapon or for making hijack or sabotage threats while boarding a plane.

During the same period, according to government figures, more than 1,100 guns, knives and other weapons have been seized.

Last week the White House, concerned by lax security on the easy-boarding shuttle flights, ordered airlines with such flights to begin checking all carry-on luggage and require all passengers to show two forms of identification.

The order came after two Pacific Southwest shuttle flights in California were hijacked on successive days.

'Sissy' gets some state votes for VP

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A quick lobbying effort by two attractive women delivered a majority of Arkansas votes to state Rep. Frances (Sissy) Farenthold of Texas at the Democratic National Convention early Friday morning.

One of the lobbyists, Mrs. Brownie Ledbetter, announced the vote was a stand-in for Gov. Dale Bumpers, the delegation chairman, who was away preparing a resolution for presentation to the convention later.

Mrs. Ledbetter worked with Mrs. Diane Kincaid of Fayetteville in recruiting the Arkansas votes for the candidate endorsed by the convention's women's caucus. Mrs. Farenthold recently was defeated in a runoff primary for the governor's nomination in Texas.

Mrs. Ledbetter said that Mrs. Farenthold would have received fewer votes if more from Arkansas had been needed to win the nomination for Sen. Thomas Eagleton.

Group to present musical

"The Joyful Noise", the youth choir of St. Luke United Methodist Church of Little Rock, will present a folk-rock youth musical at the First United Methodist Church of Hope at 9:45 a.m. Sunday in the sanctuary.

The presentation is a part of the choir's summer tour which includes performances in Hope, Benton, Prescott, and Shreveport, La.

"The Joyful Noise", under the direction of Mrs. Sue De Journett, was organized in October of 1971. This summer's tour is the first such venture for the group.

Ralph Routon of Hope is the church's youth director, and he will bring a meditation—"The Gospel According to Youth."

$36 million planned for campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern's financial advisers quietly are planning to raise $36.5 million for the presidential election campaign, depending in part on successful big-donor techniques perfected by Republican fund-raisers for President Nixon.

Even before the South Dakota presidential nomination, the money strategy for the fall campaign had been outlined to about 35 select McGovern fund-raisers.

The private meeting was held this week one floor above the candidate's command complex in the Doral Hotel. That session alone reportedly netted $1.3 million from its well-heeled participants.

Two newsmen who identified themselves attended.

More than 80 per cent of McGovern's money since he announced for the presidency 18 months ago has come from thousands of small contributors, federal records show.

But McGovern's people hope to raise $15 million — or nearly half — of their projected campaign budget in the category known to both parties as special gifts.

This generally means contributions of $5,000 or more.

Miles Rubin, a New York lawyer heading the special-gifts efforts, told the finance committee meeting: "Sen.

McGovern now realizes the vital need to move into the special-gifts area."

Increasing public awareness of campaign finance has brought mounting criticism of dependence on large contributors.

"He didn't fully realize it until a week ago when Morris and Henry talked with him and explained the full costs of a national campaign," Rubin confided to the meeting.

Morris is Morris Dees, a Montgomery, Ala., lawyer who raised $4 million in small contributions for McGovern's pre-convention campaign. Henry is Henry Kimelman, a Virgin Islands importer and campaign finance manager as well as the second-largest campaign contributor to date.

As outlined, McGovern's financial blueprint is to raise the $36.5 million from these sources:

- $15 million from special gifts and loans.
- $10 million from direct mail and television appeals.
- $5 million from special events such as concerts.
- $4 million from national and state committees and dinners.
- $1 million from a special young-people's effort.
- $1 million from industry.
- $500,000 from merchandising such items as T-shirts.

Carefree Cut

A really carefree hairstyle just requires a good enough cut so that when you wash it, all that has to be done is to blow-dry it.

This 100 per cent polyester tennis dress (left) comes in two parts. The ring-collared jumpsuit sports a matching flared overskirt—zipper-fronted for easy dressing. The shifty little tennis dress, also polyester, (right) has Chinese flaring in the Ming gold frogs that highlight the side-slashed skirt as well as the mandarin collar. Bikini pants complete the costume.

CAROL ANN WALTERS

Miss Walters to be wed in August rite

Mr. and Mrs. Dutch Walters of McCaskill announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol Ann, to Billy Ruff Yarberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruff Yarberry of Blevins.

Miss Walters is a student at Southern State College in Magnolia where she is majoring in medical technology. Mr. Yarberry attended Henderson State College majoring in business administration.

An August wedding is planned.

Tuna sauce recipe

TUNA SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

2 tablespoons flour

2 cups milk

1 can (6½ or 7 ounces) tuna in vegetable oil

1 teaspoon chopped anchovy

1 tablespoon lemon juice

2 tablespoons chopped parsley

¼ teaspoon dried leaf thyme

¼ teaspoon salt

In medium saucepan, melt butter and blend in flour. Remove from heat and gradually stir in milk. Return to heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Stir in tuna and remaining ingredients; simmer 2 or 3 minutes, continuing to stir. Remove from heat and pour into sauce boat. Serve warm. Makes approximately 2 cups sauce.

Tennis racket is what we get from the eight-court spread on the next street.

Pre-nuptial parties fete Ellen Turner

A tea was given Sunday afternoon for Miss Ellen Turner, bride-elect of Gary Neaville of North Little Rock, by Mrs. Billy Chandler, Mrs. Ralph Neaville and Mrs. Nathan Smith in the Chandler home in North Little Rock.

Receiving with Mrs. Chandler and the honoree were Mrs. E.B. Neaville Jr. and Mrs. McDowell Turner, the couple's mothers. The houseparty also included Mrs. Joseph Purvis, sister of the bride-elect.

Miss Turner wore a full-length voile dress and a white daisy corsage.

Yellow and white daisies and baby's breath in a silver container were used for the centerpiece on the serving table where iced pineapple punch, petit fours and assorted hors d'oeuvres were served. White tapers and daisies in a silver candelabra were placed by the bride's book where the 60 guests registered.

Out-of-town guests included Miss Sarah Weir of Hoxie. The hostesses presented the honoree with a gift of china.

Miss Sarah Weir recently entertained Miss Turner at a dinner at Conway at which covers were laid for twelve college friends.

The hostess presented the honoree with a corsage of roses and a gift of china.

MRS. STEVEN HOLLIS BASS

Phillips-Bass exchange vows

Steven Hollis Bass and his bride, the former Miss Gwendolyn Phillips, are at home in Hope following their marriage in Gatesville, Tex. June 27.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Phillips, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bass all of Hope.

The ceremony was performed by Honorable Judge Smith. For her wedding the bride wore a white dress trimmed in lilac and carried a bouquet of white carnations encircled with lilac.

Messengers are awkward if female

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's not that the Supreme Court won't hire female messengers—it's just that they would be "a little awkward."

That's what the court's spokesman says Maryann Clifford, 22, was told when she applied for one of the half-dozen summer jobs at the court customarily filled by law students.

Ms. Clifford—a title she prefers—says she was told "I'd be a liability because all the messengers share the same lounge."

Ms. Clifford, who is entering law school at Catholic University in the fall, said she applied for one of the messenger jobs June 19 after a friend, already a messenger, told her there were two openings.

U.S. Marshall Frank M. Hepler told her she was the first woman to apply for the job, she said. It was Hepler, she said, who told her a female messenger would be "a liability."

Bert Whittington, public information officer for the court, said Ms. Clifford "was never told she couldn't have a job ... We said it might be a little awkward."

Bride-elect of Jerry Monroe is shower honoree

Cindy Hollis, Rita Taylor, and Janet Monroe honored Miss Judy Foley, bride-elect of Jerry Monroe, with a lingerie shower July 6 at the home of Mrs. Orval Taylor.

The honoree was attired in a gold dress trimmed with white and wore a corsage of yellow daisies.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth centered with a miniature bride accepted with gold candlesticks and candles of rainbow colors.

Guests were served refreshments of nuts, mints, lemon supreme cake and cokes.

The "Pot" Keeps Boiling

Dear Helen:

There's a petition going around in California to put "decriminalization" of marijuana use on the November ballot. Which means that private users with no more than a few ounces in their possession, and people who grow the weed in their back yards will not be prosecuted. But sellers and dealers will still get heavy sentences.

How can the law protect pot smokers when it only punished those who provide the pot? Isn't the buyer as guilty as the seller? —CONFUSED

Dear Con:

Not always. For the sake of argument—take prostitution: The hooker (seller) is booked, but you don't see many male customers (buyers) behind bars. —H.

Dear Helen:

I was glad to read in your column that more young people than adults were against legalization of marijuana. Youth sometimes has more sense than age.

It seems that pot and cocaine (the latest adult "high" fashion) are losing popularity with the young while gaining ground with the elders. If legalized, a lot of foolish oldsters will jump on the bandwagon because it will be the "in" thing to do. Another instance where youth starts something and tires of it, just about the time adults grab the ball and make it a million dollar industry. —FIRST-TIME VOTER

Dear Helen:

If pot were legalized we could release a lot of policemen to more important concerns—like fighting crime, which blowing weed isn't.

Besides, with the thrill of breaking the law removed, many people would stop smoking marijuana. —FOR

LEGALIZATION

Dear For:

It didn't work that way when we legalized liquor after Prohibition! —H.

Dear Helen:

These adults who are closing their eyes to danger in the use of marijuana are reluctant to face facts. It is their generation who conducts the research into drug usage. They often say, "It hasn't yet been proven..." But they omit the knowledge of people who are familiar with the use of pot—and have been for many generations: those who have seen gradual deterioration, loss of ambition, lethargy.

I grew up among the Mexican-Americans and Indians in the New Mexico, Colorado, Utah and Arizona areas. Among them it is common knowledge what pot can do. The more foolish tried it. The old heads looked on, predicted the results and saw them borne out. This within the realm of my acquaintance.

These people clam up with outsiders: give no information, unasked, but they KNOW! They are now in the same position as old-time scouts who advised conservation. The "learned men" held them in contempt, too, many years ago. —REGULAR READER

Dear Helen:

This is to "Teenage Researcher" who listed arguments against legalization of marijuana. You can "prove" anything, depending on whose statistics and surveys you use.

Anything used in excess can be damaging, including aspirin. But it has never been proved that marijuana, used moderately, does any brain damage or other lasting harm—and, with more frequent use, less and less is necessary to produce pacific effects. —MUCH OLDER RESEARCHER

Colts have new owner

BAITIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts, a team with winning problems despite having the best record in the National Football League during the past 14 years, has new ownership.

Carroll Rosenbloom, hand-picked to revive the Colts in 1953 after a previous franchise collapse, is gone and has been replaced by Robert J. Irsay.

Completing an unusual swap of franchises Thursday, Rosenbloom became 100 per cent owner of the Los Angeles Rams and Irsay the majority owner of the Colts.

Irsay, president of a heating and air conditioning contract firm in Skokie, Ill., currently holds 51 per cent of the Baltimore stock, but the minority ownership apparently is still in doubt.

At a news conference Thursday, Irsay referred to Willard "Bud" Keland of Racine, Wis., as his partner, but confirmed that the final deal is in a state of flux.

The two reportedly wanted to be 50-50 owners when $5 million was deposited with the executors of the estate of Dan Reeves to buy the Rams.

But NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle frowned on such a split, requiring a majority stockholder.

Whatever the final breakdown of the stock, Irsay has taken over as operating manager of the Colts, who have an imposing 131-54-5 record in the 14 seasons starting with 1958.

Despite the record, Rosenbloom and the fans have been at odds for several years.

The man selected by the late commissioner Bert Bell to head the Colts' revival, was upset about the failure of the fans to support preseason games and chided the city government for not improving Memorial Stadium.

When Rosenbloom hinted he would like to move the team, and then scheduled training camp and three preseason games in Tampa, Fla., city and state officials moved to study the feasibility of a new stadium.

Irsay was confronted with all the problems at his news conference, and he met them head-on.

He said flatly that the team would stay in Baltimore, that he acquired the Colts without any prior agreement on a new playing site, and that he would like to try again with preseason games at home.

Joe Thomas, a defensive line coach with the Colts in 1964, is the club's new general manager. Thomas was credited with building two expansion teams into contenders as personnel director at Minnesota and Miami.

Reds sweep 3 game series; Twins belt Red Sox 10-0

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pittsburgh manager Bill Virdon spent a week in Cincinnati Thursday night.

It no doubt seemed that way after the Reds beat his Pirates 2-0 and swept a three-game series of National League division leaders.

"The sweep was just one of those things," said Virdon. "You don't expect them ... but they happen sometimes in baseball."

It happened to the Pirates because they just weren't themselves. The normally heavy-hitting East leaders manufactured a paltry total of three runs in the series.

But the West-leading Reds had their usual proficiency at the plate, and also killed Pittsburgh with seven double plays in the series, including one Thursday night that helped Gary Nolan pick up his 13th victory of the year.

In the other National League games, the St. Louis Cardinals topped the Atlanta Braves 2-0 and the Houston Astros defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-2.

In American League action, the Minnesota Twins belted the Boston Red Sox 10-0; the Texas

Rangers whipped the Cleveland Indians 5-0 and the Detroit Tigers turned back the Kansas City Royals 6-4.

Nolan allowed three Pittsburgh hits in the first two innings, but settled down to hold the Pirates off before Clay Carroll came in to pitch the ninth for Cincinnati.

"I simply ran out of gas," said Nolan.

The performance lowered his earned run average to 1.81, best among National League starters, as he became the league's first 13-game winner. He has lost only two times.

Cesar Gerinomo stroked three hits, including a home run in the fifth off Pittsburgh starter Steve Blaas. The Reds scored an insurance run in the eighth on Bobby Tolan's sacrifice fly.

Reggie Cleveland mastered Atlanta on two hits and drove in a run to pace St. Louis' victory. Cleveland won his 11th game in 15 decisions and enhanced his winning string to seven games.

Cleveland was reached for a single by Rico Carty starting Atlanta's second inning and touched for another base hit by opposing pitcher Ron Reed in the third.

Home runs by Tommy Helms and Norm Miller in the ninth inning produced five runs that broke a 2-2 tie and powered Houston past Chicago.

Helms first crashed a three-run shot off Cub ace Ferguson Jenkins, then Miller delivered a two-run job off reliever Dan McGinn.

Ray Corbin stopped the hot Boston Red Sox with a six-hit-ter and Rich Reese ripped a three-run homer and Eric Soderholm a two-run shot in Minnesota's romp.

It was only the fourth complete game pitched against Boston since May 29, a period covering 40 contests. The Red Sox had won 10 of 12 games before running into Corbin.

Hal King's two-run double capped a four-run first inning and Rich Hand pitched a six-hitter, leading Texas over Cleveland.

Detroit scored five runs in the first inning to give Mickey Lolich a big cushion and the star Tiger southpaw held on to beat Kansas City for his 15th victory, tops in the majors.

ABA aims for expanded league

DENVER (AP) — Expansion, with quality, was the keynote at a special American Basketball Association trustees meeting here Thursday.

The ABA is aiming for an expanded 14-team league by the 1974-75 season, but Commissioner Jack Dolph emphasized that "there will be no 'B' team markets or owners taken into the league."

"They're going to have to make the varsity," Dolph said, echoing comments he made last month when the league dropped the Florida and Pittsburgh franchises.

Dolph said the trustees have adopted an expansion program designed to add one or two teams in the coming basketball season, another two for the 1973-74 season and two more in 1974-75.

Among cities currently being considered for franchises, according to Dolph, are Cincinnati, San Diego, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Washington, Anaheim, Baltimore, San Francisco, St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Officials emphasized that the ABA will not consider any current National Basketball Association cities for immediate expansion, but only with an eye toward the future.

The commissioner said the league "must contemplate any and all action that will make us an independent entity." He noted, however, that the expansion efforts will not detract from efforts to merge with the NBA.

At the meeting, which was to continue today, Dolph said there was some discussion of holding another undergraduate draft.

The commissioner, who gives up his post in October, said candidates for his job are still being screened, a process that is expected to last at least another two weeks.

All-Star leaders are named

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Allen, Rod Carew, Brooks Robinson, Luis Aparicio, Reggie Jackson, Carl Yastrzemski, Bobby Murcer and Bill Freehan appear virtually certain to be the starting American League lineup in baseball's All-Star game in Atlanta July 25.

With only the weekend tabulating to be done before the official starting team will be announced Monday, today's weekly report from the office of commissioner Bowie Kuhn shows these eight far in front in the voting by the fans and in little danger of losing their leads.

Allen of the Chicago White Sox leads with 807,896 votes for first base. Carew, of Minnesota, has 632,255 for second base while Baltimore's Robinson has 782,272 for third base and Aparicio of Boston 491,908 for shortstop.

Muirfield's 6,892-yard links, were three young Englishmen—Peter Tupling, John Garner and Peter Townsend.

After shooting a one-under-par 70 in his second round, Trevino said, "The sunshine caught everyone by surprise. Every guy thought that every other guy was burning up the course. But none of them was prepared for these conditions—they all had been thinking how to play the links in wind and rain."

Lee issued this warning to the rest of the field, cut from 153 starters to the 88 best scorers for the last two rounds: "No matter what the weather does, the scores won't get much lower because we're all getting closer to that trophy."

"Nerves play a big part in how it all works out," Trevino announced he was

He started trying harder. The effort paid off Wednesday for the 23-year-old University of Wisconsin graduate. He won the one-meter springboard title at the National AAU Outdoor Diving Championships.

Dunfield piled up 524.61 points for an easy victory over Mike Finneran of Columbus, Ohio, who finished second, 30 points back.

Precedent is set in Colts swap

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Instead of swapping players it may become fashionable to swap franchises in pro football.

Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Baltimore Colts, established a precedent for such action when he traded the Colts Thursday for the Los Angeles Rams.

Also involved in the front office razzle dazzle were Robert Irsay of Skokie, Ill., and Willard Keland of Racine, Wis.

They purchased the entire stock of the Rams for $19 million, then swapped the Rams for the Baltimore franchise. "We avoided capital gains taxes by doing it this way," said Rosenbloom. The unique switch of franchises had been approved Wednesday night by Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League.

In the various training camps, meantime, the Dallas Cowboys announced they had acquired wide receiver Ron Sellers from the New England Patriots in exchange for an undisclosed draft choice.

Running back Duane Thomas missed his second day of practice with the Super Bowl champions and coach Tom Landry said he would be fined for each day he is absent.

Gary Collins threatens retirement

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Veteran wide receiver Gary Collins has told the Cleveland Browns he will retire unless he is traded to the Washington Redskins or the New York Jets.

The ten-year veteran, who set many club receiving records, has been hampered by injuries the past few seasons and lost his starting position last year.

He announced his decision in a letter Thursday to Browns owner Art Modell and coach Nick Skorich.

Bobby's protest rejected

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — An appeals committee rejected today Bobby Fischer's protest against his loss of Thursday's world championship chess game by forfeit.

The four-man committee supported the decision of chief referee Lothar Schmid to award the game to Boris Spassky because Fischer failed to appear.

The decision left Fischer two games down in a 24-game match where Fischer needs the equivalent of 12 victories and a draw to take Spassky's title.

Fischer stayed in his hotel room Thursday and refused to play unless three cameras filming the match for movie and television sales were removed from the hall. Since the American challenger lost the first game on Wednesday, referee Lothar Schmid's forfeit ruling gave Spassky a 2-0 lead.

Schmid said the third game of the 24-game match would be held on schedule Sunday, but the future of the match was very much in doubt.

Schmid said it depends on whether Fischer continues his boycott. He added that the World Chess Federation—FIDE—could step in at any time and disqualify him. But Dr. Max Euwe, president of the organization, said Schmid was still in charge of the match and must decide how to handle the American.

A spokesman for promoter Chester Fox, who bought the movie and TV rights for the match from the Icelandic Chess Federation, said the cameras had to stay because "the whole financial structure of the match depends on it." It was the prospect of movie and TV sales that allowed the Icelanders to offer a record $125,000 purse to the two players, and Fischer and Spassky are also to divide a share of the movie-TV money estimated at a minimum of $55,000.

Fox said Fischer admitted he couldn't hear or see the three cameras, but "he said they bothered him because he knew they were there."

Longest migration of any bird is that of the Arctic tern. It migrates from the Arctic to Antarctica, a round trip of 22,000 miles.

PLAY IMITATES LIFE everywhere, and in Northern Ireland both have a grim aspect. A child copies his elders during a rally in Londonderry of masked militant Protestant organization.

Political Candidates

The Star has been authorized to announce the following are candidates for public office subject to action of the General Election, Nov. 7, 1972:

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Treasury Department's Bureau of Customs was created by Congress in 1927. The bureau is responsible for checking merchandise entering or leaving the United States, collects duties on imports and investigates attempts at smuggling. The World Almanac says. It also works closely with the Bureau of Narcotics in controlling entry of dangerous drugs.

ASTRO*GRAPH BY BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Friday, July 21, 1972

In general: Utilize your more expansive urges. Investigate that which is novel and new. Words to live by today: PROBE and PROFIT.

ASTRO*GRAPH divides your horoscope into 6 sections. Use the letters and numbers under your sign. Numbers describe today's influences. Letters give the section. Circled number evaluates your hidden aspects.

The family of the late Dr. R.C. Lewis M.D. is grateful to the many Hope friends, for their kind words, deeds, visitations, flowers and many other tangible expressions of sympathy extended during their recent hours of bereavement. A special thanks to persons who sent contributions to the "Quachita County Hospital Intensive Care Unit" in memory of Dr. R.C. Lewis's dedication and service to the medical profession and humanity. Respectfully,

The R.C. Lewis Family

Changes in Lutheran marriage ceremony

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Parts of the traditional marriage ritual

termining the husband "head of the wife" and directing her to be submissive to him are no longer required in a new Lutheran marriage service.

Nor does the bride's father "give" her away, implying she lacks the independence of the groom. The custom derived from ancient times when daughters were regarded as possessions and were turned over to the groom for a price.

"We feel that they should be regarded as equal partners in the marriage," says the Rev. Dr. Eugene L. Brand, head of an Inter-Lutheran Commission on Worship which drew up the new service.

It omits the usual bridal promises to "honor" and "obey" the husband. Nor does the minister pronounce them man and wife as is customary. Instead, they themselves declare that compact.

In principle, this always has been the case, with the minister being only the officiating witness to it, even though he formally pronounced them wed. Basically, however, it is their own "pledge of faithfulness" to each other that unites them, Dr. Brand noted.

Matching the procedure with the principle, the key part of the new service reads: Ministers: "If it is your intention to share with each other your laughter and tears and all that the years will bring, by your promises, bind yourselves now to each other as husband and wife."

The couple, in turn: "I take you, (name), to be my wife or husband from this day forward, to join with you and share all that is to come and, with the help of God, I promise to be faithful to you as he gives us life together."

The minister: "(name and name), by their promises before God, and in the presence of this congregation, have made themselves husband and wife. Blessed be the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit, now and forever."

The new ritual, published June 14 and already authorized for trial use in the 5,044 parishes of the Lutheran Church in America, allows several optional phrases. With limits, it also permits the couple to write their own vows, so long as they pledge a "complete sharing" of life, which is "pledge sharing" of life, which is the essential of marriage, Dr. Brand said. He noted many couples nowadays prefer their own distinctively phrased services.

While the father no longer "gives away" the bride parents of both bride and groom may add a blessing, saying, "May you dwell in God's presence forever. May true and constant love preserve you."

Law of the Lord

I
Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

II
Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water that is under the earth: thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God.

III
Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh His name in vain.

IV
Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work: but the seventh day is the sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy maidservant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates: for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the sabbath day, and hallowed it.

V
Honor thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

VI
Thou shalt not kill.

VII
Thou shalt not commit adultery.

VIII
Thou shalt not steal.

IX
Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour.

X
Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is thy neighbour's.

No one wanted another Chicago in '72

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "We didn't want a repetition of Chicago in 1968," Sen. George McGovern said after facing 300 noisy, pushing demonstrators just hours before winning the Democratic presidential nomination. McGovern attempted to reassure the crowd of antiwar and civil rights demonstrators in the lobby of his headquarters hotel: "I'm not changing my position on any of the fundamental stands I've taken."

As McGovern spoke, more than 1,000 protesters gathered peacefully at Convention Hall to hear antiwar activist David Dillinger and other speakers urge them "to keep the pressure on McGovern."

The demonstrators in the Doral Hotel lobby had been blocking staircases and elevators for more than six hours when McGovern appeared surrounded by Secret Service agents. Security was tight following the arrest of two men on concealed weapons charges at the Doral earlier in the day.

"Don't you realize that most people here are for you," shouted a young man. "We love you, but you are losing your credibility..." The rest was drowned out by a girl yelling, "That's not true."

Responding to questions shouted by the demonstrators, McGovern reaffirmed his support for amnesty for those who refused to fight in Vietnam and his opposition to legalizing marijuana.

Cheered when he arrived and often as he spoke, McGovern was booed loudly when he said he would not sign a proposal calling for life imprisonment for any police officer who murders a black, Mexican-American or other minority group person.

Can McGovern-Eagleton ticket carry Oklahoma?

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Oklahoma Rep. Carl Albert made a ringing speech for support of Sen. George McGovern Thursday night while Gov. David Hall was expressing doubt whether the Democratic presidential nominee can carry the Sooner State in November.

Albert, speaker of the U.S. House, pledged the leadership of Congress to McGovern's support in a speech to the more than 3,000 delegates at the Democratic National Convention. He called on his fellow Democrats to "dig the grave of the GOP and bury it."

Hall said in an interview that McGovern's selection of Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri as his running mate would strengthen the Democratic ticket in Oklahoma.

But, Hall added, "We lost the state by 140,000 votes in 1968. Eagleton will help us reduce that margin, but I don't think he'll be strong enough to bring it around."

The convention gave Albert, chairman of the 1968 convention, the privilege of making the first formal speech in support of McGovern since he won the nomination Wednesday night. Delegates indicated by their applause that they thought it was a good choice. Noting he had served on the same committee with McGovern when the South Dakotan first came to the House, Albert said, "I worked with him then, and I'll work with him when he goes to the White House next January. The leadership of the House will work with, cooperate with and help the next president become one of the great presidents of this nation."

by columnist Jack Anderson. He said one of Haag's first acts when he came to Washington was to raise his own salary from $18,000 to $25,000 by falsifying his House payroll card.

"I think George just liked to live high off the hog," Collins said. The former administrative aide admitted he knew that two House pay forms were false, that he altered one of them himself and that he knew kickbacks were to be returned from the House pay checks. But he testified he was only acting under Collins's orders.

Collins denies any kickback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Congressman James M. Collins has denied any knowledge of an $18,000 kickback scheme for which his former chief aide was convicted Thursday.

The aide, George A. Haag, contended throughout his four-day trial that he carried out the kickback scheme at the direction of Collins, a millionaire Republican from Dallas.

Haag, 33, stood tight-lipped and erect as the jury foreman repeated "guilty, your honor," to 20 counts of mail fraud, two counts of using falsified House payroll forms and one count of obstructing justice. His wife cried softly.

He faces a maximum 15-year prison sentence under terms set by U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch, but lawyers said they believe he would get less than five. An appeal is planned. No date was set for sentencing.

Hanoi's new missile is causing concern

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Hanoi's introduction of a heat-seeking Soviet anti-aircraft missile into the Vietnam war is generating considerable concern among U.S. and South Vietnamese commanders and has brought about some drastic changes in their fliers' tactics.

The weapon is the SA7, or "Strela" — a Soviet missile which the North Vietnamese fire from the shoulder like a bazooka. It is much like the U.S. Redeye missile.

The Strela is equipped with an infrared homing device that is attracted to the heat given off by an aircraft engine and carries a high-explosive warhead. It has proved very effective, especially against the comparatively slow helicopters and propeller planes, officers say.

Some officers consider it the most effective of the several weapons used for the first time by the North Vietnamese in the current offensive — the others include long-range artillery, medium tanks and wire-guided missiles.

Military sources estimate that more than a dozen U.S. aircraft and at least that many South Vietnamese helicopters and planes have been downed by Strela missiles since they appeared on the battlefield in early May.

The only Americans known to have survived being hit by one of the missiles were two Army pilots whose helicopter gunship crash landed in some trees after a missile blew off its tail boom near An Loc.

DIXIE DRIVE-IN SUNDAY-MONDAY

Elvis has starred in thirteen MGM films, his latest, Elvis... "That's The Way It Is," is unique in-as-much as it was photographed without script, no artificiality, no constructed sets and no direction for the star. The spotlight is on Elvis, presenting over 30 songs — some old favorites — and many new ones.

The Strela has been used most often around An Loc and along Highway 13. It was so effective there that midway through the siege of the provincial capital, U.S. helicopters quit flying in the area, and spotter planes were forced to operate at 10,000 feet, above the estimated 8,000-foot range of the missile.

Among the tactics devised by pilots is low-level flying which often enables a helicopter to fly through a danger zone before the enemy can bring the weapon to bear. Another, used with middling success, is cutting power and allowing the helicopter to "autorotate" toward the ground; the sudden drop causes the missile to zoom past harmlessly.

U.S. and South Vietnamese airmen have used still another gimmick — tossing out thermite grenades or parachute flares. The missile diverts to the hotter target.
